- I can talk about what people are doing.

Ask your partner:

- What do you order at a cafe?
- How often do you go to a cafe?

Let's Explore!

Peter orders coffee in a cafe. How does the barista greet him?

* "Barista" is the word for a coffee shop clerk.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Barista: Hello. Can I help you?
Peter: Hello. How much is the cappuccino and the espresso?
Barista: The cappuccino is $6.50. The espresso is $5.00.
Peter: That's too much. Can I have a medium coffee, please?
Barista: Sure. I am making a fresh pot of coffee now.
Peter: Great.
Peter: Hello?
Sally: Hi, Peter. It's Sally. What are you doing?
Peter: Hi, Sally. I'm studying at Ned's Cafe. What are you doing?
Sally: Nothing. OK, I'm coming to meet you.
Peter: Great, see you soon. I'm ordering a juice for you. Bye. Can I have a juice, too?
Barista: Sure. Here you are. That's $3.50, please.
Peter: Thank you. Oh, can I also have a glass of water?
Barista: No problem.

Learning Points

The Present Continuous Tense - I, You

You use the Present Continuous tense to talk about current actions - things that are happening NOW.

You use the verb to be and verb-ing.

Subject	To be	Verb-ing
I	am	studying.
You	are	eating.

To ask a question use the structure: What are you doing?

Examples:

- Sally: What are you doing?
- Peter: I am studying.

Asking How Much Things Cost

You use the phrase "How much ... ?" to ask the amount of money you have to give when you buy something.

In a store, you can also ask, "What's the price of ... ?"

Examples:

- Customer: How much is the coffee?
- Clerk: It is $3.50.
- Customer: What's the price of this new phone?
